Curtis Lewis joins the Robe UK Sales Team

Curtis Lewis joins the Robe UK sales team, boosting the numbers as sales go from strength to strength across the country!

Based in vibrant London, he will spend his time focussing on new business whilst providing excellent sales support to existing customers.

Being in the heart of the UK's entertainment industry, Curtis will be kept busy with London as his sales patch and his extensive knowledge will be a great asset.

Robe UK Sales Director Ian Brown said "We are delighted to have Curtis on-board to help deal with an ever-expanding list of customers. His professionalism, attention to technical detail and friendly attitude are all hugely valuable to our sales team."

With previous roles at American DJ and Lamda PLC, Curtis brings a great blend of experience and energy to the mix.

"I believe Robe is an aspirational brand at the cutting-edge of lighting technology with a fantastic product range that is constantly expanding," declares Curtis, adding that the level of care and support given to customers "is fantastic to see and I am keen to start widening our reach across all sectors and investing for the future."

Outside of work, Curtis is a keen DJ and record collector and can be found mixing tunes and energising dancefloors at local clubs and bars, a hobby of 20+ years now.

Welcome to the team, Curtis!
